Cam Cavasso a former 3-term State Representative who also most recently ran for Lieutenant Governor in the 2002 Republican primary elections is now running for the U.S. Senate.

Cam Cavasso together with his wife Tula and their 2 sons, 3 daughters and 6 grandchildren reside in Waimanalo Hawaii on their 6 and 1/2-acre turf farm.

Cam serves as an agent with Mass Mutual Financial Group, a position he has held for the past 18 years. Cam is also the owner of Hydroseed Hawaii, a contracting company specializing in hydro mulching.

As a leader in his church, Cam served as a bible teacher and elder. He has been a long time canoe paddler with Lanikai, Kailua and Koolau Canoe Clubs and is currently steersman for the senior master crew of New Hope Canoe Club.

A former Captain in the U.S. Army, Cam served most of his 5 years of active duty in Germany.

Cam graduated from the University of Colorado after also attending Waseda University in Tokyo Japan. He is a graduate of Kailua High School where he served as Student Body President.

Cam is the son of Leon and June Cavasso. His Hawaii family roots originate to his great-grandfather Francis Davey a well-known Honolulu photographer in the 1890's whose work can be seen in Bishop Museum.

Cam Cavasso's decision to run was driven by Daniel Inouye's vote against the federal marriage amendment July 13th. Shocked and dismayed by Inouye's vote against traditional marriage, Cam Cavasso was compelled to run.
